

Brian Holtz - Libertarian for Congress

Engineer, author, husband and father.

Fiscally conservative, socially liberal,
and not for sale to special interests.

Republicans threaten our personal liberties.
Democrats don't understand market dynamics.
Both parties buy votes from special interests.

Rep. Eshoo will (for the 5th straight time) win by a 2-to-1 margin.

Don't let the incumbent parties think your vote is automatic.

Instead, cast an explicit vote for the policies of the 21st century:
personal freedom and responsibility, free and fair markets,
and smart environmentalism. <http://marketliberal.org>

How many black dots?

Government “solutions” to most problems are like the black dots here: the problems just move around, & the solutions add up to nothing.

Libertarians say the government should only

- Prevent aggression
- Protect the environment
- Provide a safety net
- Regulate basic infrastructure

but otherwise recognize the freedom and responsibility of peaceful honest adults to control their own bodies, actions, speech, and property.
